FRANKFORT, Ky., July 28, '87.
Dear Roundabout:

It is easier to say how anything should be done than it is to do it. I find every one to be critics. I am an amateur in letter writing, and have found out that it is a great deal easier to criticise than it is to write. Of all things, I do not want to become a "croaker," nor even to be considered one. What I have written and will write has been and will be for the general good, as I view it. I do not expect every one to endorse every thing I write, but will say every thing I advocate I believe to be for the general good—promising never to have an axe of my own to grind, except in the general grinding of axes. When the grinding takes place, let it be known; let no "sharp tricks be played," let all in the city know of it. In other words, show an "open hand," "fight in an open field," "never shoot in the dark," but dealing at all times in "high points." Life is too short for me, either in public or private life, not to "deal on the square."

When an office or place of public trust is to be filled, not for one to force himself on the city or county, when it is an established fact he is not wanted, and has to use money to secure the place or position he is seeking, by taking the advantage of the poor man's condition, by pouring whisky into him, and putting one or two dollars into his hand, demoralizing and degrading the man, and his family for life, and then go and tell what a low creature he is—sold his vote for a drink of whisky and a dollar—when, in the sight of God, you are worse than the man you have degraded. All this is degrading to the buyer and the bought. And the people should frown it down. We have good men, but they will not force themselves on the people for any thing, and they will not scramble for office. I can recollect when it was an honor to be a magistrate, and a greater honor to represent one's county.

When a place is to be filled, it should be done by the people selecting the man, not for the people to be compelled to "choose between two evils." It seems to me it takes a great deal of "cheek" for any one, on a "cold collar," to announce himself for any position. My idea is to let the people bring out the man and elect him, the man having nothing to do with it, but, when elected, go in with "clean hands," working for the good of the whole, knowing no man or "set of men," which we all know has been done all "along the line."

Our City Council, several years ago, repealed the hog law, it is believed they did it to secure the votes of the hog owners, so to-day the town is one vast "hog pen," go where you will, you see hogs. A policeman told me to-day he believed there were 2,000 hogs in the city limits. It is the only hog town of my knowledge in the United States, and it is the capital of Kentucky. Our mill is so beset with hogs, we can hardly get in or out of it, they are rooting up the street, pavement and alley way, hunting the wasted wheat dropped from the wagons coming to the mill. I ask the city what shall we do? We must have protection. We pay our taxes. Some of the citizens say our mill is a nuisance and should be removed out of the city. I ask which should be removed, the mill or hogs? The mill is manufacturing the "staff of life." We pay out $250,000 or $300,000 per annum for wheat, drawing trade here from all sections—the bulk of the money being spent here. Our weekly pay-roll is now, while running night and day, over $300, which is spent right here. Every week we are shipping flour to eight or nine States. Those who own residences must remember that cities are made by manufactories; that residences must give way for these manufactories when they come. The people here have depended too long on the "drift pile and the Legislature," and must look beyond this if they expect to keep up with the go-ahead world, and must learn broad business ideas, also learn what it takes to constitute a "nuisance." Some people's idea of a nuisance would soon scatter the town to the "four winds" and have it "vanish into thin air."

The City Council is failing to look after the condition of the city as they should. The chairman of each committee, street commissioner, city physician, all are not doing what they should. I have not aught against any of them. They are filling the positions assigned them, and they should be faithful to their trust, diligent and watchful to the interest of the whole city; seeing that every thing is kept in good repair and nice condition; trying to work in harmony, as far as they can, for the general good and advancement of every portion of the city, remembering we are one family. The Council is looked up to as the "city fathers," and they must hear their children's complaints and act wisely. Having accepted the places they fill, it is their duty, as I look at it, to see that every thing is run in systematic order—not to wait until wrongs are pointed out. I have been idle for some time, so have had a chance to see more than if I had been engaged in business.

I made arrangements, the first of last week, to go up the river, Friday morning, on the "Grace Morris," to Woodford Landing and Tyronne, to look after the purchasing of wheat at those points, and found out, just before starting, that there was an excursion the same day of the children from the Feeble Minded Institute, and I, of course, found myself "one of them." The owners of the boat had tendered Dr. Stewart and family, teachers, attendants and children, free of charge, on the barge "Annie," a trip to Lock

No. 5. Will say I never spent a more pleasant day even if I was among the "feeble-minded." And will also say Frankfort never had in her midst a more clever set of men than the owners of the Grace Morris and the two Preston boys. I have known them all for years, and they are gentlemen of the highest order, and deserve full patronage from every one in the city. They have gone to expense in getting up the barge for the benefit of excursion parties. Let us patronize and fill it every trip.

To fill this letter to the usual length of former letters, I will finish up on Dr. Stewart, wife, teachers, attendants, children, and the "Feeble-Minded Institute." I never saw a seemingly happier family. The Dr. and his wife being the head—he the head of the whole. The children seemed to be under perfect control. I formed the opinion that the wife was controlled by love for the Doctor; the teachers and attendants by love for them both; the children by love for the whole. They had a brass band, composed of eight or nine boys, and it is wonderful how good music they made. They also sang a number of songs. I have heard it said, by people living in our midst, that the State was throwing money away on these children. Every one should be careful in expressing an opinion where the "weal or woe," even of one individual, depends on it. It should be the object of every one to elevate his race, to do good, to be careful in our expressions, unless it be for good, remembering always that "words, fitly spoken, are like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

I hear children are taken into this institution almost idiots, and in a few years, are sent out into the world making their own living. They are taught (the boys) the carpenter's trade, to make brooms, mattresses, shoes, and other things, and also gardening. The girls to sew, cook, wash and keep house. Some of these boys and girls becoming tolerably bright. The girls make all their own clothes, also sewing for the boys. The boys making all the shoes for this institution, also all for Anchorage Asylum, besides selling all articles made elsewhere. I believe it would pay the State, and be quite a benefit to the institution, and tend to make it more self sustaining, if a salesman was put on the road to dispose of all goods made. I learn the Asylum at Lexington fail to buy the shoes, &c., made here. It seems to me this is not as it should be.

All rings should be "burst up." The Lexington Asylum is a dead expense to the State, and if this institution for feeble-minded could be made self-sustaining, the State would be benefited, besides the State benefiting poor humanity. The proper authorities should look into this.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.

A BUSINESS MISUNDERSTANDING.

Mr. Waggener, Late Business Manager of the Philadelphia News, Explains His Withdrawal.

Mr. Beall Waggener, whose accounts as business manager of the Philadelphia News were recently reported short, writes his relatives in this city regarding the dispatch published in the press of the country.

"The statements made therein are absolutely false, as all my friends know, and it arose from the bitter enmity which my associates on the News have conceived for me for some reason unknown to me, unless it was the fact that I complained so often to Mr. Widener, our backer, that the editorial expenses of the paper were too great, they being responsible for them. The simple truth is that the concern has always been run as a firm, and not as a corporation, and each member of the firm, when he wanted money, was in the habit of going to the cashier and getting it without regard to the condition of his salary. Of course you know I was not the cashier, as the slip stated, nor the book-keeper, and that the books were kept by the regular book-keeper and cashier, and not by me at all. Well, as these books will show, each member of the firm (there being four of us) had overdrawn his account—one about $1,100, another $500, another $100, and I $250. After I left the paper some of them said I had overdrawn my account, and some reporter stuck this item in the paper, naming an amount which was absurd, but which no doubt seemed necessary to sustain his sensation. Of course, the person who said I had overdrawn said nothing about the others having done the same, and thus the publication was made as against me alone. I went to town immediately, but could not fix the responsibility for the publication, no one seeming to know where it came from or what inspired it, and having published my denial in the afternoon papers of that day, I placed the matter in the hands of a lawyer, who still has it in charge. Technically I am at fault, for I should not have allowed any one of the firm to overdraw his account, and that is the most unfortunate feature of the case."

NO SPECULATION, But a Safe Investment.

"Our doubts are traitors,
And make us lose the good we oft might win,
By fearing to attempt."

We often hear the lamentations of those who visited St. Paul six years ago and failed to invest, because they thought it would not grow much more. But stronger still will be the vain regrets of those who have a little money now, and fail to invest here, because they have been so unfortunate as not to see St. Paul. The country is just beginning to realize what St. Paul has done in late years, and what a future it has before it. There is no city in the Union with its size, business and future prospects, where property is near as cheap.

The following comparative statement of real estate values, obtained from leading conservative agencies in the respective cities, during April, 1887, speaks for itself:

	Population.	Highest Price per front Foot. Business Property.	Highest Price per front Foot. Residence.	Highest Adjoining Acreage per acre.
Chicago	750,000	$6,000	$700	$7,000
Buffalo	240,000	3,000	350	2,000
Cleveland	227,000	3,500	500	1,500
Milwaukee	165,000	1,500	200	3,000
Detroit	155,000	2,000	300	3,000
Minneapolis	140,000	2,000	300	3,500
St. Paul	140,000	1,200	300	2,000
Kansas City	102,000	3,500	300	5,000
Indianapolis	90,000	800	150	800
Omaha	78,000	1,200	150	5,000
Toledo	50,000	1,100	100	1,000
Duluth	20,000	1,900	100	1,500

The "Twin Cities," St. Paul and Minneapolis are only ten miles apart from centre to centre; have only about five miles of a partly vacant space between them, and have a common corporation line between them. These cities, which in 1880 had only 41,000 and 46,000 inhabitants respectively, have now 140,000, possibly nearer 150,000 each, and the tide of immigration is pouring in faster than ever. Considerably more than one-third of the immigration of this country finds a home in the territory immediately tributary to

T. P. L'S IMMENSE TRADE.

Nineteen railroads run into the city, ten of these being big trunk lines, making it

The Third Railroad Centre in the United States.

The completion this year of the Minneapolis, Sault Ste Marie and Atlantic Road will give it direct communication with New York, independent of Chicago, and will put it one hundred miles nearer the Atlantic coast.

At the head of Navigation on the Mississippi,

And only one hundred miles from Lake Superior, it can laugh at the terrors of the Inter-State Commerce Law. The rich country all around is filling up more and more, and new railroads are springing into existence with wonderful rapidity, making still larger fields for its already immense wholesale trade. Its great manufactures are daily increasing, and it is rapidly becoming the centre of the STOCK-YARD AND PACKING INDUSTRIES.

There are more millionaires here than in any city of twice its size on the Continent. All the causes that have for the last five years operated to make St. Paul a great city, are working more strongly than ever, and, being in the centre of the richest and most rapidly developing part of the United States, St. Paul and Minneapolis

WILL SOON BE ONE IMMENSE CITY.

"By every argument that can be drawn from the past, by every present material condition, by the certain promise of the city's situation and surroundings, by every proof which has been tried in the experience of city growth, St. Paul feels assured that the era of prosperity now upon the city is to witness changes more astounding and more satisfying than those which have already made it the wonder and admiration of all, whose good fortune it has been to visit the city and in a measure become acquainted with her institutions."

We have a large number of Southern customers, and all their investments have either been sold out at a large profit, in some cases

We dislike to criticise the actions of the City Council. Goodness knows there are enough kickers who know better how to run the city than any body. But we doubt the wisdom of the action taken last Tuesday night looking to the removal of the steel water pipe from the bridge. On several occasions North Frankfort would have been without water and liable to the disaster of a large fire but for the pipe in question. Let it stay, of course only using it when absolutely necessary.

From present indications the politicians on both sides will hear something drop, and drop hard, in many places that they are not looking for, on Monday next. The independent voter is at large in the State, and he is pluming himself on his liberty. Our advice to the boys, who have spare change that they are spoiling to put up, is—don't do it. This is a bad year for speculations in that line. Look out for surprises in more directions than one.

The following changes have been made in the Revenue officers in this county, to take effect Monday: M. E. Jett goes to J. N. Blakemore's, and is succeeded by Mr. Dan. Glanton as night storekeeper at the Crow; Capt. Willis, of Versailles, succeeds Mr. Z. T. Thomasson as storekeeper at the Hermitage, the latter being laid off; J. Pickett Woodson goes to John Cochran & Co's, in place of Joe C. S. Blackburn, jr., who lays off. Grant Green, jr., succeeds Henry Duvall as storekeeper at the Crow, and the latter lays off.

Deputy Sheriff Noel Gaines arrested a man on the Versailles pike, near the city, Thursday morning, supposed to be Henry Colston, who murdered J. A. Woolums in Scott county about a month ago, and for whom a reward of $200 was offered by the Governor. He was taken to Georgetown that afternoon, but proved not to be the party wanted.

Col. J. W. Hedden, one of the editors of that bright any newsy paper, the Mt. Sterling Gazette, was in the city on Wednesday last, and made us a pleasant call. The Gazette is a first-class paper, and no little of its popularity is due to its well worked local columns over which our friend Hedden presides. Come again, Colonel.

There are quite a number of the South Frankfort belles who have taken to bathing in the river every afternoon. They have adopted bathing suits and are rapidly learning to swim as expertly as the boys. The old Herndon wharf is the rendezvous.

Wheat Show.

STATE OF KENTUCKY,
OFFICE OF COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE, HORTICULTURE AND STATISTICS.

FRANKFORT, July 21st, 1887.

To the Farmers of Kentucky:

With the view of obtaining Seed Wheat of the best varieties grown in the State, the Annual Wheat Show will be held at this office on the 25th day of August 1887.

The following premiums will be awarded: First and second premiums at $15 and $10, each, for the following varieties, viz: No. 1 Longberry, red, and white. Each sample must be sent in a separate package, marked with the name of the exhibitor and the name of the variety, and the package may be sent by freight at the charge of this office. Each sample must contain not less than one-half bushel. It is my purpose to purchase a quantity of the Premium Wheat for distribution through the members of the Legislature in the various counties.

Every body present enjoyed the hospitality of Owen's Democracy.

The Revs. W. B. and P. E. Kavanaugh have just closed a protracted effort in trying to convict sinners and show them the way to a purer, nobler and higher mode of life, but their efforts seemed in vain, and we think it will take an old-fashioned cyclone or a man possessed with superior magnetism to arouse them to a sense of their standing. Perhaps Bro. Sam Jones would be the proper man, as we know him to be a man of wonderful talent, and when he turns his artillery loose sinners feel as if it would be best to find refuge in believing that God exists.

We have noticed recently that the mighty Courier-Journal has taken occasion to compliment Evan E. Settle, Democratic nominee for Representative of Owen. We have known Mr. Settle from boyhood as a bright, modest and able attorney, and we are happy to hear him so pleasantly spoken of as our next Congressman from the Ashland district. We would advise his opponents to be a little careful when in debate with him, for when once aroused, he is an inevitable buzz-saw, that might precipitate them into eternal oblivion. He comes from a county whose Democracy no one will question, and they will give him a majority never before seen.

WANTED.—A first class boat builder, to make a boat to convey M. Butcher, D. Gray, R. Hannan, J. Coleman, L. T. Clark and others up Salt river next Monday night at low 12.

We are at sea for language to express ourselves against those saloon-lounging, whisky-drinking hypocritical, blab-mouthed, stay-at-home Church members. For if there is such a thing as tough citizens, they are the toughest. They are like the beef steak that a hotel man gave his boarders to eat. It was so tough they could not eat the gravy.

The ladies of the St. John's A. M. E. Church were very successful. The church presented Misses Katie I. Washburn and Fannie Miller each a gold ring for being the two most successful ladies in raising money for the church. Miss Washburn received the first prize, and Miss Fannie Miller the second prize. The other ladies will be rewarded in the near future.

The Frankfort Literary Society favored the many who were out on Wednesday evening, at St. John's A. M. E. Church, with a rich treat in orations, declamations, select reading and solos. Inveterate Case of Erysipelas Cured.

Gentlemen:—My little daughter was sorely afflicted with erysipelas every spring and fall for eleven years, continuing for about two months each attack. It affected the whole skin surface with redness, thickening of the skin and often followed by a pustular eruption. The physicians failed to relieve or arrest it, but the case grew worse every year for eleven years.

At the beginning of one of her spells I commenced the use of Swift's Specific. In a few days it brought out a profuse pustula eruption, which in a few days passed away, leaving the child perfectly well, and she has not had an attack or a symptom of the disease since, now three years ago, and has been in perfect health. Have given her a few bottles every spring and fall, and she has had no return of the disease.

I know that S. S. S. cured her, for she had it every fall and spring from the age of three years to thirteen years. She is now sixteen years old, and has not had a spell in three years. Yours truly,
J. W. DUNK.

The Steamer Grace Morris and her excursion barge, Annie, seem to be doing a land office business. On Sunday there was a large crowd on board who went to Lock No. 5, returning by 7 o'clock, p. m. On Tuesday evening again there was another large party, who had the string band on board, going to Clifton. The music was very much enjoyed by all.

Letter from Mr. Darsie.

80 WORCESTER ST.,
BOSTON, July 25, 1887.

Dear Roundabout:

Lack of opportunity, and not lack of inclination, explains my long silence. At the same time you have not needed my poor scribbling to make your paper interesting. Interesting is hardly the word to describe the Roundabout since the railroad issue was on. Lively is better. It made a rousing appeal. Its weekly appearance was a trumpet call to the citizens of Franklin county, and I doubt not its bold and able advocacy of the new project did much in bringing about the splendid majority by which the railroad measure carried. Accept my hearty congratulations on the victory won. It means a future both for Frankfort and Franklin county. May it be but the first step of a long and unbroken series of steps forward. Progress and life go hand in hand. Decay and death are the certain doom of a community that refuses to advance. It does my heart good to know that the dear old capital city among the hills has, by an overwhelming vote, resolved to live.

I hear that you are having it hot in old Kentucky this summer, and, for that matter, all over the west and south. I want to record my appreciation of the summer weather, at least, of Boston. In former letters I expressed myself in terms of strong condemnation concerning the winters here. It is but just then to praise Boston weather where I can, and certainly it is high praise to be able to say, with two-thirds of the summer gone, that we have had in all, thus far, but four really hot days. They were at the beginning of this month. At all other times the days and nights have been thoroughly enjoyable. Delightful sea breezes have fanned our cheeks almost daily. And there is nothing that makes summer so agreeable as the bracing breath of old ocean. You can detect a sea breeze the moment it begins to blow, even at midnight. You don't have to consult a weather vane. You have only to consult your nose. You smell the salt in the atmosphere, and as the breeze continues a delicious invigoration possesses you, and a consciousness that it is filling you with new life. Our east winds in winter and spring are simply detestable. They are the chief peril to health. They bring influenza, pneumonia and rheumatism in their wings. But in midsummer they are the chief blessing of life. All our ills "fold their tents like Arabs and silently steal away," when the briny breath of ocean begins to blow.

You would hardly believe me were I to say that during probably half the nights in July one riding on a street car in Boston would not have been uncomfortable in a light overcoat. In fact I must say that, if this summer, as far as it has gone, is a fair sample, give me Boston every time for a summer resort.

And yet, strange to say, the city is almost deserted by the wealthy classes during the summer months. You can go by whole squares on Beacon street, Commonwealth avenue, and other well-to-do sections, where the front doors and windows are all boarded up, the sign that the occupants are in their summer cottages or at some summer hotel, at Hull, Nantasket, Old Orchard or elsewhere up or down the coast. It seems to me strange that it should be so. One's own home, with all the comforts of life around him, is always pleasanter in endurable weather than any other spot. The "stiffness" of a cottage and the noise and bustle of a summer hotel are only desirable when they had elsewhere. And so when wealthy Bostonians go away from home for the summer, I must conclude that it is for other purposes than those of comfort.

Things in the religious line are very quiet now and many churches are closed. It is quite the thing for the popular minister of Boston to cross the ocean for his summer vacation. But, with my experience of the Boston climate, I should think if a minister wanted to get out of the city and take his needed annual rest, the winter is the time. It passes my knowledge of all that is reasonable and proper to see ministers running away just when the city has become fully enjoyable. I shall certainly stand at my post through all the summer months, and if I make a visit it will be in the fall. I thank you for the information that I am to be in Frankfort next month. I may possibly make a little run in that direction during September, but certainly not in August. And I may not make any visit at all.

But I must not weary your readers with a long letter. Glad to say that this leaves us both in good health. With cordial greetings to our many friends in dear old Frankfort.

I am ever truly yours,
GEORGE DARSIE.

JETT'S Ky., July 27, 1887.

Editor Roundabout:

The following notice has been sent out by the sheriff of Franklin county, under instruction of the Auditor of State. A similar one has been received by the writer from the sheriff of Woodford county, though not quite so mandatory:

NOTICE.

Sir: Your State and county tax for the year 1887 is —. If not paid before September 1st, 1887, six per cent. will be added. After September 1st, your property will be advertised and sold for amount of taxes due thereon.

JOHN W. GAINES, Sheriff.

Now, tax-payers, is this not refreshing for a hot summer day? The first citizens of the country, who have always paid their taxes, are threatened in advance with a levy on their property, advertisement and sale of same. Are we living in an oligarchy in this great Democratic State of Kentucky? Gen. Hewitt is the father of this law, and an applicant for your ballots on Monday next. This is Democratic dictatorship, "pay your taxes or we will immediately sell you out." We are glad to know this before the election. Shall we scratch him? We shall, and others on same State ticket. O ye gods! it is glorious to be a Democrat and live under a Democratic administration. It is said, "whom the gods wish to destroy, they first make mad." A large majority is doubtless conceded, and has been a reality too long for the health of the body politic. What have the people to pay their taxes with? Wheat and corn below the cost of production, and other things in proportion. Two tax gatherers in one year. The arbitrary and mandatory threat, "pay your taxes September 1st next, or your property will be advertised and sold for taxes." Is this the "Balm in Gilead" to be administered as a soothing remedy for a suffering people? 40,000 majority. Ye menials stand to the orders of your rulers. You have heard of the trials of the Taylor company. We desire to inaugurate something similar all over the State. But Mr. Hewitt will say this is a law passed by the Legislature of Kentucky, but let me say, at his instigation. The law-making power of Kentucky has been berated, and justly so, for years, not only by the public press, but by sensible men every where, as being a corrupt and incompetent legislative body. But it will be said the people are responsible for this.

This is partly true. Political shysters and deadbeats are continually pressing themselves forward, willing to get down into the gutter of corruption and fraud to get office, aided by court-house cliques and money, and thus the people, the sovereigns of the State, are defeated in the conservative efforts they are making for good and wise legislation.

I have it from evidence which will not be doubted (and which is at hand), that the sheriff of Shelby county said to Auditor Hewitt: "It will ruin my people to pay this tax September 1st next." Shelby was doubtful as to her instructions. Hewitt said you and your court-house clique carry Shelby for me and I will give you a stay in the collection of your taxes. How many other counties have been won by similar promises? We write this that the people may know what is going on and that they may act accordingly.

TAX-PAYER.

Letter from Zeke Vocum.

CRAW, Ky., July, 1887.

Dear Nephew:

Will you publish this card.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

I'm informed that some good people have taken offense at some articles of mine in your paper. Now I want it distinctly understood that I never intended to wound or hurt the feelings of any one. I only write for amusement. If any one who is offended will call at my office in the moral end of Craw, I will privately or publicly apologize. If this is not satisfactory, gentlemen, I will refer you to the Code of Honor. Any communications intended for Mr. Vocum will receive prompt attention by being handed to my friend, Judge Dan Moore.

WANTED—THE PHOTOGRAPHS of every poor man in Franklin and Shelby counties who is opposed to Federal aid to the school fund of Kentucky.

$100 REWARD

to the man that will find a Democrat who will own up that he voted for Horace Greeley. Consistent party—they first vote for Jeff Davis and then for Greeley.

In Shelby county there are two candidates for the Legislature, namely: J. M. Puckett and one Jerry Long. Puckett voted men and money and fought to sustain the government; he is called an Abolitionist. Long voted for men and money, but was afraid to fight; he's a good Democrat.

WANTED, MADE BY SOME GOOD BLACKSMITH, ONE IRON BAND for the head of one of the county officials of Franklin county—about two inches wide. Please make it about the size of a small summer turnip. Be quick about it or his head will burst. When it is done please leave it at Burns' wood yard, on the Owen pike, in passing he will get it. Take his receipt for same. Present your claim to Gen. Hewitt, who will give you an order to Mr. Tate. He will cash it if that amount is in the treasury. Cost of said band is not to exceed 10 cents. If said band prevents his official head from exploding, the party who furnishes it will be supported the balance of his days by those of the county who opposed the railroad tax.

If the citizens of Frankfort would have a boom, all they have to do is to assist Mr. E. P. Bryan by taking stock in the Frankfort Heating Company, find gas, elect him your mayor, organize stock companies for manufacturing purposes, elect my friend Dan Lindsey to the Legislature, who will get an appropriation for building a new State House. Stop sending little one-horse politicians who force themselves to the front with mean whisky, and by begging for the office, telling us they want to be vindicated—that they don't want the office, it's vindication they are after. Gen. Lindsey is a man of heart. With Lindsey in the Legislature and E. P. Bryan as Mayor of Frankfort, all would be well.

SALVATION ARMY NEEDED NEAR HATTON, KY.

Last week there was a picnic near this place, at which there was some dancing, some eating and a wonderful amount of whisky drinking! Late that evening there was ten Baptists and four Campbellites drunk—the Methodists, being in the minority, ran from the grounds.

One old Baptist and a Campbellite got into a discussion on the design of baptism, both of whom were very feeble, having drank more whisky than soup. One Methodist said to the other they will discuss the mode of baptism soon, we had better go. You know, Bro. Starks, that Baptists are hard on us about the mode when sober. So they left and left the others to fight it out in regard to the design of immersion. Late in the evening there was a general row, in which pistols, stones, clubs and other missiles of death were drawn, one poor cripple was knocked down.

All of which happened in the presence of the Sheriff of Shelby county. No arrest was attempted by said officer.

In my next I will give you the facts in full.

So soon as the Salvation Army converts Craw, and some more in Frankfort, please send them to Hatton. On their way to Hatton, get them to stop one week at Benson. Not less than two weeks at Hatton will do any good.

Please furnish the army with a copy of your paper containing this. Good bye dear nephew, this is my last letter before the election. I'm now at Reuben Sebree's old stand near Stone Kitchen.

ZEKE VOCUM.

A Nameless Case.

My case has been a very curious one for about thirteen years. At intervals of about one week I would be attacked with spells of severe and most excruciating pain, as ways commencing in the region of my kidneys. The pain would then go upward and affect my body and head, and seemed to penetrate my very eye-balls, creating the most intense suffering, lasting about eight hours each spell.

I resorted to all kinds of medicine without benefit. Several doctors treated my case, but none gave relief. I finally used B. B. B. as an experiment, and to my utter astonishment all pain and suffering vanished after using three doses. To the present time I have used three bottles, and not a pain has ever returned. I do not know what was the matter, neither could my physician name the complaint. The B. B. B. acted finely and powerfully upon my kidneys, my appetite has been splendid and my constitution built up rapidly.

R. THOMAS, Constitution, Ga., May 6, 1886.

Unimpaired Integrity.

I am 55. Broke down twelve years ago, and have not been able to work since. Have lost proper action of my hips and legs. For five years scrofulous sores have appeared on my scalp, nose, and at some time my eyelids began to fail, and for three years have been comparatively blind. Have been treated by eminent physicians of different schools without a cure. I have taken five bottles of B. B. B. (made at Atlanta, Ga.), and all scrofulous sores are gradually healing. Inflammation about my eyes has disappeared and there is some improvement in my vision. Am very much benefited and relieved, and begin to feel like a boy again—feel good. My strength and activity are returning in my legs and hips. The B. B. B. acts vigorously upon my kidneys, and the great quantity of matter that has been forced out through the skin is utterly incredible, often so offensive in odor as to produce nausea. I refer to all business men of LaGrange, Ga.

Physicians Have Found Out That a consummating foreign element in the blood, developed by indigestion, is the cause of rheumatism. This settles upon the sensitive sub-cutaneous covering of the muscles and the joints, causing a constant and shifting pain, and aggregating as a calcareous, chalky deposit which produces stiffness and distortion of the joints. No fact will experience has demonstrated in regard to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has stronger evidence to support than this, namely, that the medicine of consumption checks the formidable and atrocious disease, nor is it less positively established that it is preferable to the numerous often used to arrest it, since the medicine contains only salutary ingredients. It is also a powerful remedy for malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, kidney and bladder ailments, debility and other disorders. See that you get the genuine.

The Frankfort Literary Society

Will hold its second public meeting on Thursday night, August 18. The programme is nearly completed already, and will embrace some distinguished people, and some choice things. The distinguished poetess, Mrs. Rosa Verner Jeffries, of Lexington, has been requested to contribute an original poem; Capt. Sam Gaines is preparing a paper on the London Literary Club in the days of Johnson and Goldsmith; Robert Burns Wilson will read an original poem prepared for the occasion; Mrs. Wade, wife of the proprietor of Buhr's Hotel, has consented to read a choice selection; four talented young men will debate the question, who is the greatest living man? Col. Tom Ford will read a poem, entitled "Frankfort's Second Century;" Miss Kate Shipp, of Woodford, will prepare and read a poem on the Centennial; Miss Clara Stafford, Miss Nellie Orison and Prof. Will Heffner will grace the whole of the exercises with songs, and the whole of the proceedings are expected to be in harmony with the broad and elevating basis upon which the society has been founded.

This society will soon become one of the most agreeable features of Frankfort, and is destined to bring together in beautiful harmony the entire talent and culture of the capital city, and the surrounding country, and fill a want that has been felt for half a century. We know of no one thing calculated to do more general good in elevating and purifying public and private thoughts than these monthly meetings of our most cultivated people, engaged in the single work of diffusing pure literature and morality, and thus elevating the standard of enlightened thought among our people. We wish the society great success in pushing forward this noble work, and hazard nothing in predicting for it a harvest of usefulness, which, at this time, can scarcely be imagined; and having these views of its purposes, we commend it to our citizens, young and old, male and female, as worthy of their patronage and support. Let this next meeting be a grand one.

The smallest telegraph "sounder" ever made is on exhibition in the show window of Mr. Phil. Selbert, on St. Clair street. It is only about one inch long, a half inch wide and half an inch in height, and is perfect in all its parts.

It was manufactured by J. H. Brunnell, in New York, for Mr. Chas. E. Taylor, the old time telegrapher and manager of the Western Union Telegraph office in this city, and is intended to be worn as a watch charm. Small as it is, Mr. Taylor has attached it to the wires and received messages with it. Its voice is weak, but it gets there all the same.

There was a called meeting of the City Council Thursday evening to investigate charges of undue discrimination against an officer, preferred against Chief of Police Pat Lillis by ex-officer P. F. Smith. The charges were not sustained and Mr. Lillis was unanimously acquitted.

There was a splendid rain at Woodlake Monday afternoon.

[FOR THE ROUNDABOUT.]

Old Voices.

BY S. S. C.

No sweeter sound was ever heard,
From babbling brook or throat of bird;
None sweeter than my heart's ever stirred
Than this around me ringing.
It fills the air like the chime of bells,
And many a tale the music tells.
It is the old folks singing.
The voices rising sweet and clear,
A quaver there, a ripple here,
Like song birds in the glad new year,
When all the world is ringing.
My mother's dear voice leads the song;
My father follows deep and strong,
And grandpa too is singing.

I fail to wonder as I hear
The song break on my listening ear,
Why aged people have no fear
Of death at life's beginning.
For aged voices scarce can be
Much sweeter in a symphony
Than these old voices singing.

The regular State election takes place Monday.

We understand that the reason Col. E. C. Went's tribolite was mashed, on his recent visit to Cincinnati, was that it had eyes and he was afraid it would see too much.

The Colored Baptist Church at Bridgeport was destroyed by fire on Thursday night. The congregation had just gotten the building in good repair and had it neatly furnished. The building and furniture was a total loss, with no insurance. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

A fire occurred at Georgetown Wednesday morning, destroying five of the handsomest business houses in the place. We regret to say that the office of the Georgetown Times, one of the best conducted county papers in the State, was also destroyed. This is the second time in the last ten years that Bro. Bell has met with the same misfortune, but we hope soon to see him on his feet again and his paper come forth brighter and newer than ever.

Mr. L. L. Anderson, of Louisville, has been presented a handsome gold medal by the Northwestern Mutual Insurance Company for having secured the largest number of policies for that company during the year. The compliment could not have been bestowed upon a clever gentleman, or one who is better posted in life insurance. He is a hustler and can convince a man of the great importance of keeping himself well insured in half the time an ordinary agent would take.

We understand Col. Jno. L. Scott has called upon Prof. E. C. Went to deliver a lecture to the Frankfort Literary Society upon his researches on geology in and for this county, and his general knowledge of that subject in the State. We hope the Professor will decide favorably in the matter, and set a day soon that his friends may show their appreciation for the man by being present in full force to hear him. A rare treat is in store if the Professor accepts.

Base Ball.

The Lexington and Frankfort Base Ball Clubs will play a regular match game at Lake Park, this afternoon, at three o'clock.

The Georgetown Club failed to meet their engagement in Lexington on Monday and in this city on Tuesday, but we understand they have secured a new pitcher and catcher from Cincinnati and will finish out the season.

The Frankfort Club went to Lexington Friday afternoon and played a seven inning game, but were robbed of the victory by the rank decisions of W. W. Huffman, President of the Blue Grass League, who officiated as umpire. The game opened with Hudson at the bat. He got first on a hit, when Buttiner knocked the ball over the right field fence for a home run. A boy threw the ball in, and it was feld to home plate in time to cut Buttiner off, and the umpire declared him out. After that the Frankforts scored three unearned runs.

The Lexingtons were blanked in their half of the second, and the Frankforts were retired in one, two, three order. Lexingtons scored one run on three errors and a hit.

In the third the Frankforts made one run on a hit, a passed ball, and a put out. The Lexingtons were blanked. After two men were out in the fourth Hudson and Buttiner scored on errors and a two-bagger by Shephard. In the Lexington's half is where the umpire was the rankest, giving five runs to the Lexingtons on an error and two foul hits, one for two bases and one for three. Hudson, the captain of the Frankforts, called his men off the field, and was willing to forfeit the game when he saw he had no chance to win, but manager Gordon thought he had more to say than the captain, and ordered the men to play under protest of his captain.

In the fifth the Frankforts were blanked, being completely rattled by the umpire. The Lexingtons scored two unearned runs.

In the sixth the Frankforts earned two runs on hits by Nelson, Hudson and Buttiner, Hudson's being a two-bagger, and scoring on Buttiner's single. The Lexingtons scored two runs after two men were out on a three-bagger, a two-bagger, and a single, earning both.

The Frankforts were blanked in the seventh. The Lexingtons the same.

In the eighth Merchant hit the first ball pitched for a three-bagger. Gordon secured his base on a hit to Brown, who foolishly threw home when the runner on third had not started. Hudson missed the ball three times, but got first on the catcher's error. With three men on bases and Buttiner at bat and every prospect of the Frankforts winning, umpire Huffman called the game on account of rain, when the crowd yelled for it to be finished.

Miss Annie Mastin has been on the sick list for a week past.

Mr. R. L. Grinstead went to Louisville on business yesterday.

Mr. Thos. Honaker, of Louisville, is on a visit to friends in the city.

Whooping cough, fever and chills are taking the place of Bellepoint.

Two of C. P. Nichols' children, Ed. and Louisa, are sick of malarial fever.

Miss Jennie Conoway, of Bald Knob, has been visiting her mother in Bellepoint.

Mrs. Merchant and her daughter Jennie, of Louisville, are visiting the family of R. L. Grinstead, on Kentucky avenue, Bellepoint.

A pleasant sociable at Mrs. M. L. Todd's Thursday evening. The dancing was kept up until a late hour, and all enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

The Rev. J. N. Chesnut, the new rector of the Episcopal Church, arrived here on Sunday morning last from Louisville, Ky., his former parish. Mr. Chesnut comes to Chadron with the highest testimonials from both clergy and laity. He is an earnest, enthusiastic worker, an eloquent preacher and we extend to him a hearty welcome. He is accompanied by his wife and family, and occupies for the present the Kelley cottage, corner of Morehead and Fifth streets.

Grace Episcopal Mission have rented the Eckles building, two doors north of the Chapel house, on Main street, and are now fitting it up in a comfortable manner, so as to hold regular service until the new church is completed. Services will be held there on next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock. At the morning service holy communion will be administered, the new rector, Rev. J. N. Chesnut, officiating. Strangers invited. Seats free.—Chadron (Nebraska) Democrat.

The Beginning of the End.

The beginning of disease is a slight debility or disorder of some of the vital organs, the stomach, the liver or the bowels usually. There are dyspeptic symptoms, the liver is troublesome, the skin grows lumpy and unhealthy looking, there are pains in the right side or through the right shoulder blade. The climax is often an utter prostration of the physical energies, perhaps a fatal issue. But if the difficulty is met in time with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is always effective as a remedy, and it should be resorted to at an early stage, there will be no reason to apprehend those injurious subsequent effects upon the system often entailed by entirely neglected diseases. Far better is it, also, to employ this safe remedial agent in fever and all other malarial complaints, than quinine and other potent drugs, which, even when they do prove effective a time, ruin the stomach and impair the general health.

Thieves buy votes.
Fools sell votes.
Are you one?

The two officers of the S. A., accompanied by Miss Merchant, visited friends on the Ridge last Wednesday.

Ignorance, if you want to know who John L. Scott is, go to the next meeting of the Frankfort Literary Society and see the daisy presiding officer. That's him.

Our worthy turnpike board have decided to open our new pike on the first of August. There is a short gap yet to be built through Mr. W. M. Crutcher's.

Local Option Committee, Louisville—Remember this next Monday. The sale of liquor is not a necessity in five districts of the county on Sunday. What makes it a necessity in the sixth?

Some comical genius distributed hand-bills at our picnic, which contained an invitation to go to G. W. Baker's and get a square meal for twenty cents.

An advertisement of that kind is useless among people who have just assisted at a Pea Ridge picnic.

Pepper Pod, it is sad to see men climbing Fort Hill with kegs of beer on Sunday, but would it not be easier to stop the sale of liquor on Sunday than to build an elevator? A city friend says selling liquor on Sunday is necessary in town, because excursions by train and boat land here. So we have to run saloons on Sunday to accommodate excursions, and run excursions to accommodate saloons. What a double-faced juggle.

It is to be hoped that our people, who all heartily dislike convict labor, will not vote for those who favor it next Monday. There are three other tickets to choose from, all opposed to convict labor.

The Democratic State candidates have no claim on Franklin county. Not one delegate was elected to represent this county in the State Convention. When the friends of temperance and federal education were turned out, what have they got left? Is the best part inside or out?

"Two partners bought a stock of goods and a forty dollar keg of whisky, and had a dime left. The man with the dime told his partner to tap the keg and sell him a drink. No sooner said than done. Then the other partner made the same request, and the dime changed hands again, and so they kept trading, doing a cash business, till the liquor was gone, which left them with an empty keg and a dime."

This fairly illustrates the liquor traffic under the most favorable circumstances, and the result is an empty keg and a dime.

Years ago, when whisky was fifteen cents a drink in Lawrenceburg and ten cents in Alton, four miles and a half distant, processions of pilgrims used to come from Lawrenceburg to Alton to get the cheapest liquor. Among them was a professor of finance, whose theory was that, as five cents was saved every time he took a drink, it was clear that the more drinks he took the richer he got; and if the man or the liquor did not give out, it was only a question of time when he could retire rich. While arguing his theory in a grog shop in an excited manner, he reached for a scale weight to give force to his remarks, when he was promptly shot dead by his auditor.

The local option people then said that the theory should never again be tested in Alton.

The following letter from Zeke Yocum's old comrade explains itself:

CLAYHATCHIE, COFFEE CO., }
ALABAMA. }

Dear Friend:

I have just read the last four Roundabouts. Glad to see that you have got the railroad. I like to hear of Frankfort being improved. I assisted to improve it, years ago, by repairing a bridge to the music of the Yankee cannon.

I should have written before, but I have just come back from the Blue and Gray reunion on the battlefield of Gettysburg.

I never was treated better by any set of men in my life than by our old enemies. They seemed to try their best to make us have a pleasant time. They took us all over the field and showed us the places where the different divisions of each side stood, but the place is so much altered, monuments of the various commands being built all over the field. I easily recognized the three poplar trees from behind which Zeke Yocum and I captured two prisoners. But the place that interested me most was the stone wall right at the corner where we charged with Pickett that day. Zeke remembers all about that. Just as we were ready to move Bill Martin said, "Say, Zeke, if you get killed may I have your blanket?" Zeke had a very fine homespun blanket that the boys used to tease him about. Poor Bill, I think he was about the first of our command killed. If any one doubts the courage of our regiment, let him look at the Cowan battery monument and read the inscription upon it.

"Double canister at ten yards." This is sufficient to prove the valor of both sides.

A most interesting incident was where the Yankees got into the position they held so bravely years ago and we Rebs walked past and shook hands with them, all across the fence that divided us 24 years ago.

I do so wish Zeke had been there. Tell him that the old 13th Alabama sent him their regards—that is, what is left of us—for Gettysburg altered our numbers from 750 to 2 officers and 42 men. We propose to invite the blues to come and celebrate next year with us in Alabama. Love to my old comrade Zeke.
Yours,
HENRY WILSON.
